

Nicolò Venchierutti

Wi-Fi Specialist

CWNE #151

») Why are you interested in wireless?

My wireless passion was born during my high school period and thanks to Electronics & Telecommunications issues in which I had the opportunity to study RF transceiver systems and electromagnetic waves propagation. After my graduation, I was looking for a job that would allow me to implement the years of study and to keep pace with wireless technologies evolution.

») How long have you been involved in the CWNP certification process?

I started my CWNP experience in July 2009 with CWNA certification and in December 2014, I became CWNE for a total of 5 certifications in 5 years. Every single certification required me about 6-7 months from initial preparation to final exam.

») List of certifications currently held?

I currently hold the certificates of CWNE, CWAP, CWDP, CWSP, and CWNA.

») What motivated you to become certified?

I wanted to become certified to confirm my technical knowledge on 802.11 wireless systems and to learn more about new RF technologies, which have now become part of the enterprise mobility world.

») What parts of becoming certified do you feel are most important?

No matter what kind of certification you earn and how it will impact your working life, the important thing is maintaining your curiosity about the unknown. I think that everyone who has the will to learn new stuff should have the opportunity to grow both personally and professionally.

COMMUNITY SPOTLIGHT

») What was the hardest part of this process and how did you overcome it?

Becoming certified means intensive study while you are employed, and it is not always easy to maintain a steady pace in order to achieve your target with the maximum efficiency and in the shortest possible time.

») How has this journey impacted your life?

During the study period, I had to spend many evenings on the books. Although, my free time was significantly limited, the satisfaction of having reached my goal was enough to repay all my efforts.

») Who would you suggest the CWNE program to?

I suggest taking this training course to those who work in the world of networking and mobility solutions. In addition, I would also recommend to all the radio-communication fans that want to enhance their knowledge and, accordingly, their curriculum.

BIO

Nicolò started his career as a Post-Selling Support and Pre-Sales Technical Specialist. During his working experience, he earned some technical certifications from the main partners Zebra and Honeywell related to mobile computing, WLAN, and Thermal Printing.

Since 2007, Nicolò has been working as a Wi-Fi specialist at Aton, which is a System Integrator company that follows customers worldwide. He used to follow all project steps from pilot to rollout phases and the customer portfolio includes some of the most important Italian companies.

Working as a System Integrator gave him the opportunity to discover and handle the newest technologies in the enterprise mobility world.